Campus News in Brief

German Club Discontinues Activity

ACTIVITY IN the German Club has been temporarily discontinued because of the war situation, it was announced recently. Feeling among students was blamed for the action.

According to Miss Gretchen Rogers, Professor of German and faculty advisor of the group, "We feel it would be better to suspend operations until we know a little more how people felt about it."

German Club President Stanley Werbow "deplored" the attitude towards the club of students on campus, and stressed the fact that the group was a non-political one, with no Nazi or other German affiliations. "Our meetings are harmless," he said, "and when they are resumed, the German atmosphere will not be stressed to allay fears among ultra-American patriots."

Prof. Garnett Publishes Book

DR. CHRISTOPHER BROWN GARNETT, Jr., of the Philosophy Department, has just published a new book, "The Quest for Wisdom," which is appearing this week.

A plea for wisdom is the theme of the book. Dr. Garnett calls upon all reflective persons to think their way back to Fundamentals, and to face the problems of living equipped with a grasp of clear ideas.

Dr. Garnett has been teaching here for more than a decade. He is a graduate of Western Hill School of this city, and of Princeton University. He took his Ph.D. and D. Litt. degrees at the University of Edinburgh, Scotland.

Wilgus Made AAUP Council Member

DR. A. CURTIS WILGUS, Professor of Hispanic American History, was recently elected a member of the Council of the American Association of University Professors for a term of three years. The council is the Association's legislative body and formulates policies of the organization.

Dr. Wilgus was elected at the annual meeting of the AAUP in Chicago. He attended as a delegate of the University chapter. It was Dr. Wilgus, and not Dr. Elmer L. Kayser as erroneously stated in The Hatchet of January 6, who attended the conference on Pan-American affairs in Miami, during the Christmas holidays.

Geiger Speaks to Pre-Legals

"OUR SYSTEM of Administrative Law is not without its faults, and though the evils are seldom seen in practice they are there just the same," stated Irwin Geiger, Administrative Law authority in his address before the Pre-Legal Society last week.

Geiger, a Baldwin-Wallace College graduate, cited as the main weakness of administrative procedure that the examining and trying were both done by the same body and when the case comes to court the facts certified by the commission are not open to question.

As an alternative to the present set-up Geiger recommended all the agencies pool their examiners and instead of one special man being associated with any particular agency these bodies would call a man from the central pool whenever there was investigation to be done.

Thespians Give Prize Fight Drama

THURSDAY NIGHT at 10:30 over WWDC, the Encore Theater will present "The Comeback," by Meyer Hansom, a story about prize-fighting. The plot concerns the dramatic efforts of a man to make a comeback in the ring, despite danger of going blind.

Elaine Berry, William McGhee, James Heidnall and Norman Dancy are in the cast, and James McKechnie is in charge of the production.

Coeds Asked to Bleed for Victory

"HERE'S A CHANCE for University women to help out in National Defense," Caroline George, chairman of WAA's Defense Committee, told WAA last week as she asked coeds to volunteer in the donation of blood to the Red Cross. Miss George who has already given her pint of blood, said further, "There are no weakening after-effects, and it requires very little time. Donors may report to the Naval Hospital at 23rd and E.N.W."

Ragatz Work Published

A RECENT publication of Dr. Lowell T. Ragatz is his "Early French West Indian Records in the Archives Nationales" which comes from the autumn issue of the Inter-American Bibliographical Review. This work, a bibliography, is arranged in departments so as to facilitate the work of the researcher.

Seven More Join Cercle Francais

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS initiated Florence Schonshor, Raymond Dooley, Eleanor Barton, Solidelle Fortier, John Carter, David Cassidy, and Adriane Warner, Saturday at a luncheon in Maxim's Restaurant, then heard Dean Henning, Professor Emeritus of the University. Lucien Lajoie and Mary Davis will be initiated later at a special service.

Bishop Freeman Speaks at Next Chapel

BISHOP JAMES E. FREEMAN of the Washington Cathedral will be the guest speaker at Friday noon's chapel. Last Friday Dr. Raymond J. Seeger, Associate Professor of Physics and Chapel Director, discussed "Can God Trust Man?"

Speakers Aid Red Cross, Other Groups

COOPERATING FULLY with the National Defense effort, the University Speaker's Bureau has canceled its previously scheduled program and is devoting full time to aiding the Red Cross and other local organizations by concentration of civilian defense speaking.

So far, four members of the Speaker's Bureau have given their services to the Red Cross. They are Jessma Oslin, director of the organization; John Doukas, Mrs. Grace Smith, and Marjorie Taylor. They have placed themselves "on call" at any time for this organization.

The Red Cross is trying to raise $750,000 from this area for war relief work and these students are aiding in this campaign.

January 5 they attended a dinner given by the Red Cross for speakers working in this campaign and each gave a one-minute speech. Last night another dinner was held for the purpose of hearing reports from the participants in the drive.

Miss Oslin, the director of the bureau, stated that she expected more students from the bureau to enter this project.

Gordon Calvert Gives Report On Sale of Co-Op Books

Over 200 Sold;
$784.05 Turned In To Student Council

WITH A TOTAL of two hundred and two books sold and $784.05 turned in, Co-op Director Gordon Calvert announced that individual and organizational prizes will be awarded at the Varsity Ball on March 13. The director's report includes intake through the Buff and Blue Room last Friday night.

Books will now sell for $3.30, a reduction of one dollar from the original price, Calvert stated. In pointing out that the co-op is a better buy, proportionately, than it ever was Calvert added that two Buff and Blue dances as well as the All-U Prom, the Engineers Ball, the Glee Club Concert and Dance and the Varsity Ball are included on co-op tickets. The director emphasized that the price will not be reduced again.

Ed Gee, co-director and last year's individual prize winner has announced his resignation. Anne Blackstone, student council president, thought it unlikely another co-director would be appointed this year and Gordon Calvert would carry it on as sole head. Theta Delta Chi won the cup awarded to the organization with the most sales last year.

Approximately 207 books were sold and between $400 and $500 taken in from co-ops last year.

Closer US-Mexican Interests to Hasten Axis Defeat-Najera

University's Inter-American Center Hears Mexican Envoy

"MEXICO and the United States share common ideals and interests for the first time in history and those superior ideals ultimately will triumph over the unexpected and felonious aggression of the Axis powers," the Mexican Ambassador, Dr. Don Francisco Castillo Najera, declared last Tuesday night at the fifth annual Pan-American Conference held under the auspices of the University's Inter-American Center closed.

Reviewing the history of United States-Mexican relations, hampered from the beginning by the divergent political and cultural backgrounds of the two nations and by the ineptness of their early diplomatic representatives, Ambassador Najera asserted, "It is surprising that the continuous causes of irritation did not result in disastrous and numberless armed conflicts."

Good Neighbor Policy Aids

"It was not until the establishment of the Good Neighbor policy under the Roosevelt (Ed. note—F. D.) administration that Mexico's fears of early American imperialism were allayed," he concluded.

James S. Carson, vice president of the American and Foreign Power Company, Inc., spoke preceding the Mexican ambassador and told the audience of 150, gathered in the auditorium of the United States Chamber of Commerce Building, that with Europe and North America engaged in a destructive war, the century ahead may belong to Latin America.

Dean Doyle Speaks

Also on the program was Dr. Henry Gratian Doyle, Dean of Columbian College, who asserted that the removal of linguistic handicaps must precede the establishment of better relations between North and South America, and added that "good neighborliness on a sign-language basis simply will not work."

The Pan-American Conference was brought to a conclusion by a panel questioning of each speaker. The panel consisted of Howard Sanderson LeRoy, a Washington, D. C. attorney; Frederick Morris Felker, dean of the School of Engineering; and William Cabell Van Vleck, dean of the Law School. Chairman for the final session was Robert Whitney Bolwell, professor of American Literature.

Officials Set Fires in Test Demonstration

INCENDIARY BOMBS were fired behind the School of Government Saturday in a fire control demonstration. District air raid wardens and about three hundred other on-lookers watched Lt. Commander Wetherall, expert from the Navy Department, (a University alumnus) confine the flames with sand to prevent the danger of the fire spreading. Fire from incendiary bombs can not be extinguished and the only precaution to be taken is to isolate the burning.

Through the University, a series of three lectures has been held at the Department of Labor auditorium for the air-raid wardens of the District of Columbia.

During registration for the second semester a table will be set up by the Civilian Defense Committee where all students will sign for the particular defense work which most interest them.

Mr. Charles Merry, Civilian Defense Committee chairman for the West End area, has been named air-raid warden for the University.

Final Examinations To Begin Friday

FINAL EXAMINATIONS begin next Friday in all of the University's schools, colleges and divisions and will continue through January 31.

The second semester of the 121st academic year will begin the week of February 2. On Monday, February 2, entering freshmen take scholastic aptitude tests and examinations will be given for students who wish to qualify for advanced courses.

A special day, February 3, has been set aside for the registration of all freshmen. Other students will register on Wednesday and Thursday, February 3 and 4.

Next issue of The Hatchet will be February 3.

40 Students Receive Wings In Air Force

"WINGS" in the air forces of the U. S. have been granted to over forty of the 250 students who have completed the Civilian Pilot Training Course sponsored jointly by the Civil Aeronautics Authority and the University. Professor Norman Bruce Ames announced.

An incomplete tabulation, compiled by Professor Ames, shows that graduates of the CAA courses are now flying for the Army, Navy, Marines, and the Royal Canadian Air Force. In addition, several of the students are now employed as civilian instructors in aviation.

Professor Ames is attempting to complete a report on the number of Civilian Pilot Training students who have entered the services of the country in any capacity.

The courses which cover 72 hours of ground instruction and 35 to 50 hours of flight work take one semester for the primary course and one semester for each of the four advanced phases of training.

Ground instruction is given at the University at night and flight work is done at local airfields during times convenient to the students.

Upon successful completion of the course the student gets a civilian pilot license.

Applications for the new course starting about the first of February will be accepted until January 25 in Professor Ames' office in M. E. 311, corner of 21st and H. Candidates for admission to the course must pass a physical examination and present one year of college work if presently attending school and two years of work if not in attendance. Total cost, including physical examination, books, and insurance is $23 for the primary course and $31 for the advanced courses.

The preliminary list of the former students in the air services follows:

ARMY: Frank W. Loops, Roy Burdette, D. Albert Beardsley, Joseph B. McWhirt, Victor J. Sampson, Ortus F. Adams, Paul J. Kyle, Wendell Hale, James S. Alford, Charles E. Brown, Harry M. Douthett, Gordon H. Crabb, J. A. Simmons, Jr., Wade H. Johnson, Stanley G. Miles, Marion F. Jackson, Jr., Warren Marlin, Glen E. Jennings, Perrin A. Kent, John D. Darby, Alfred F. Odum.

NATIONAL GUARD: Walter B. Mackall, James Von Williams, H. C. Claggett, Randolph Klyce, Marcel Lindheimer.

NAVY: Leonard D. Peterson, Edwin J. Swindler, Allan L. Rothenberg, Justin McC. Miller, George Poake, Hugh T. Shelton, Robert G. Howie, Harry G. Brewster, William M. Stevens, MARINES: Edwin C. Fy, Joseph K. R. Jones.

ROYAL CANADIAN AIR FORCE: Almus R. Speare, Arthur R. Eno, CIVILIAN INSTRUCTORS: Raymond L. Keys, John Walther, Eugene E. Banning, Frederick W. Hess (Air Corps Reserve).

NATIONAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON AERONAUTICS: J. Ford Johnston.

Med Seniors Pledge $14,400

FOLLOWING the precedent established by the two preceding classes, the seventy-two members of the present senior class in the University Medical School have pledged an aggregate sum of $14,400 to the Medical School Endowment Fund. This sum plus the pledges of the other two classes brings the total amount pledged to $38,500.

The fund was started three years ago by the members of the senior class that year. Each one pledged a certain amount to be paid to the endowment fund within a period of twenty years after graduation. This policy has been continued by the last two graduating classes. The usual amount pledged by each student has been $200 but some students have pledged $400 and even as much as $1000.

DEMONSTRATION—Instructor Kenney illustrates to his class, the action of the white corpuscles on germs by having the class surround the seated "germ." This bit of action took place in the recently completed first aid course for instructors of that art.

The class was one of many which have been scheduled by the University's Civilian Defense Programs.

University Aids Victory Drive For Service Men's Books

THE UNIVERSITY DRIVE to aid the national Victory Book campaign to provide reading material for servicemen started on the campus last week under the leadership of the Women's Student Government Association.

This national effort to provide our armed forces with the type of reading material they have left at home gives every student a splendid opportunity to aid the men in uniform, according to Mina Brown, president of the W. S. G. A. and leader of the local unit of the campaign.

Many have wanted to aid the service men in this respect but have not known how to make such a contribution; the well-organized national drive through convenience of collection and careful distribution has made it possible for all students to aid the drive.

The American Library Association, the Red Cross and the USO have started this campaign to collect 10,000,000 books to be distributed to Army "dayrooms, ships and naval bases. The books to be donated are not limited as to type.

Fiction and mystery stories, technical books, books on current affairs, histories, poems, plays, and reference books are suggested varieties.

Books may be left in either of the reading rooms on the first floor of the library or at the desk on the second floor and they will be collected by the committee. The library is cooperating with the committee and will handle the books. The campaign has the active support of many organizations on the campus and of the university administration. A goal of two books for each member of the University has been tentatively set by the committee.

Paper Shortage May Limit Length of Examinations

WORLD-WIDE conditions of war continue to exert an effect on student life at the University, as evidenced by the disclosure that the school is facing a shortage in mimeographed paper of the type used in examinations.

According to Charles E. Merry, University business manager, the supply of mimeographed paper available here has been cut to one-third the amount used in previous years.

Formerly, the bulk of paper was imported from Sweden, but with the coming of war, this source of supply was cut off. Now the nation must depend on its own resources, and develop wood pulp other than the Swedish pine previously used.

Recently new processes have been developed so that paper may be made from Southern slash pine and spruce woods, but this paper is of an inferior grade.

Mimeographing of examination papers is thus being curtailed. In the History Department, mid-semester exams were not printed so that there would be enough paper for the final exams. Other departments are conserving paper in the same way.

As yet, the shortage is not too acute, but its effects will increase. By final examination time there may not be enough paper to mimeograph any of the tests, according to authoritative sources.

Then, professors will be forced to use their ingenuity to give tests to their students without using a large amount of paper. This may result in shorter exams.

Earthmen to Meet

CHI UPSILON, geological sorority, will hold its semi-monthly business meeting Friday night at the home of Vera Dougherty, corresponding secretary.

Elaine Berry Sets Deadline For Cue and Curtain Contest

Original Plays
Must Be In By
6 P.M. Saturday

DEADLINE for the one-act play-writing contest sponsored by Cue and Curtain has been moved up to Saturday, President Elaine Berry said yesterday and emphasized that this will be "final."

To be eligible for judging in the annual contest, now in its third year, entries must be in the Cue and Curtain office, rear of Building J, by 6 p.m. Saturday.

Manuscripts should be typewritten, double spaced and on one side of the paper only.

Concurrently, it was revealed that the next production of the University's thespian group will be given on the evenings of February 25, 26, and 27, with the prize-winning plays of the present contest as the feature attractions.

In past contests, the three top plays of those submitted have been presented as one of the regular productions of the dramatic group, and have been well received by audiences.

First winner was Eugene Lerner

ELAINE BERRY

with "Destiny," while Ray Arce-neaux was declared winner of last year's competition with a play based on bomb-ridden London of 1940, "Some Walk Crooked."

Season tickets will be honored for the next production.

Students Participate In Contest

U. S. Agency Plans To Improve Inter American Relations

WITH THE over-all objective of fostering and improving Pan-American relations by stimulating a nation-wide study of Pan-Americanism, the Office of the Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs, headed by Nelson Rockefeller, is sponsoring, during the current academic year, a National Public Discussion Contest on Latin America among students of colleges and universities of the United States.

National finalists in the contest are to be conducted on a Summer tour of other American republics, or in case world conditions make this impossible, to be given a cash award of equal value.

Hold Local Conferences

The plan of the contest is this: Local conferences on Inter-American Affairs are to be held on every college and university campus in the nation, district conferences in approximately fifty communities throughout the country, six or seven regional conferences of delegates selected from the district conferences, and the National finals to be held in Washington. Delegates to the regional contests and finals will have all expenses paid.

Two members of the Speech Department of the University are on the Advisory Committee for this contest. They are Prof. Willard Hayes Yeager, president of the National Association of Teachers of Speech, and Prof. Henry Goddard Roberts, president of the Potomac Speech Association.

Select Representative

Before March 1 every university and college entering delegates in the competition will select five to eight students to represent it at regional conferences. Students pursuing full-time undergraduate courses leading to the bachelor's degree will be eligible. The institutions participating will select students through a series of group discussions or other procedure.

Members of the University committee for the contest are Professor Yeager, chairman; Dr. Alva Curtis Wilgus, professor of Latin American History; James Christopher Corliss, professor of Inter-American Economics; and Merle Irving Protzman, professor of Romance Languages.

District conferences will be held by April 1, regional competition by April 23 and the national finals on May 14.

District conferences will consist of a number of round tables and public speaking during the afternoon, concluded by an extempore discussion forum in the evening. Each of these round table discussions will be on the general subject: "How can we best implement the Good Neighbor Policy, that is, best promote cooperation and friendship among the Pan-American nations?"

Students ranked first and second in the extempore discussion forum in each district will be delegates to their respective regional conferences. In the regions the afternoon discussions will probably consist of two round tables, followed by public speeches, as in the districts and three speakers will be selected from each group for the extempore discussion forum in the evening.

The student ranking first in the evening forum will represent his region at the National Intercollegiate Conference on Inter-American Affairs at Washington. This national conference will follow the pattern of the districts and regions.

Camp Course Is Offered Again Next Semester

LEADERSHIP and TRAINING in camp work through a series of lectures, section meetings and a week-end trip in camp will be available to men and women students of the University with the presentation of the tenth Camp Leadership Course next semester.

Dr. Lloyd B. Sharp, prominent in the camping field as director and founder of the National Camp for Advanced Leadership in Camping and Director of the Life Camps, will come from New York to deliver four of the projected six lectures. Dr. Sharp, a special lecturer at New York University, is this year opening a course at that school on the role of Camping in Home or Civilian Defense. The University class plans to consider the camp's place in event of emergency evacuation.

Classes Start February 11

Classes are scheduled to meet twelve Wednesday evenings from 8-10 p.m., beginning Feb. 11.

'V' Is For Victory

ONE OF THE MOST gratifying bits of news to reach our ears in many a day was the outcome of the recent G. W.-Georgetown game. The Buff and Blue warriors triumphed to the tune of 45-36, thus blasting violent propaganda attempts which indicated a Georgetown invincibility.

To the University's own Colin P. Kelly, Matt Zunic, the student body is eternally indebted. It was Matt's spectacular play in the first half which was highly instrumental in bringing home to the boys from the Hilltop the fact that their famous fight song, which prominently features a "Hoya" and a "Saxa," possessed a dirge-like quality after all.

Of course, Zunic was not alone instrumental in bringing home the first Hoya scalp in several years. To his colleagues, go heart-felt congratulations for inspired play. Bobby Gilham, whose performance was equalled only by that of "Mad Matt," was another contributor to victory on January 15, 1942, a date which will live long in the minds of the entire student body of this University.

Another senior, Roy McNeill, deserves the Distinguished Service Cross. Roy took over in the second half and succeeded ably in keeping the Hoya basket busy. Joe Gallagher, Ed Gustafson, Jim Myers and Jim Rausch were others who aided in transforming the battlefield into a parade ground for the George Washington University might in its righteous wrath.

Ah, how sweet is revenge.

An invisible warrior for the University courtmen on that memorable eve was the skill of Coach Bill Reinhart. His record in the cage league is superb. True, this year, his boys have dropped five games. But there was nothing of which to be ashamed. His team was up against the best.

We want Coach Reinhart to understand that, so far, his work, this year, has been a success. As long as we trim Georgetown, the hell with the midwestern giants who sometimes embarrass us at Riverside Stadium.

One more thing—may we ask that some trumpeters enlist with the band. Now that we have something to toot about let us not be silent.

Take Your Change in Stamps

THE STUDENT CLUB is offering Defense Stamps for sale and University students have here another opportunity to contribute their bit to National Defense. It would be good for each member of the student body to use his change to purchase a stamp or so each day. In time it would mount up and simultaneously would be a saving for the individual and an aid to the nation.

There are 10,000 students enrolled here. If in the next sixteen weeks each purchased a ten-cent stamp each school day, $9,600 in stamps would be bought by June. This isn't much, but it's sufficient to buy gas masks for nearly two thousand persons. It's the little grains of sand that makes the seashore.

Our Unstinted Praise

THE ART DEPARTMENT and the University art students deserve high praise for their exhibit in the Student Club. Arranging such a display took much time, thought, and effort and should not go unnoticed. The attention showered on each portrait, sketch, wood carving and bust showed beyond the shadow of a doubt that the students of the University have a place in their hearts for the finer things of life.

The comment that greeted each piece of work differed markedly, no two students having the same view on any one item. What higher tribute can be paid any piece of art than to have its self-appointed critics disagree as to its merits? In times such as these it is reassuring to know that many students at the University have not given up, as fruitless, the quest for beauty and esthetic perfection.

Answer the Question

PREPARATIONS for civilian defense here at the University have been going forward in an orderly manner. Plans have been made to move students to places of safety in case of air attack, first-aid classes have been set up, and the University has lost no time in procuring an alarm system, lightproof curtains, and flashlights for each instructor.

Students were asked to do their part by filling in a questionnaire and returning it to the University defense co-ordinators. So far the returns have been disappointing, although a few are still trickling in. There is no time like the present for everyone to show approval of and cooperation in this program by returning the questionnaires immediately. Just drop them in the campus mail box in the Student Club or mail them addressed to the University. Do it today!

GW Has Own 'Chips' Classes Discover Now

By C. JULES ROSE

POLITICAL THEORY, the Constitutional Convention, France's legislature before the war, the agencies in each department, philosophy of Kant, Jus Soli, and Federal Finance are all pretty dry stuff, but Dr. John W. Brewer made them interesting. Simultaneously he sold the course and himself to his elementary Political Science classes.

The key to Brewer's success can be summarized in one word: Sincerity. As a professor he took his job seriously and his students respected and admired him for it. One morning Brewer announced that he was among the reserve officers who were being called to the colors, and while he hated to leave the University, he was happy to serve his country. Students Shocked.

Dr. Brewer's students were shocked at the announcement that their instructor was leaving. They, then, fully realized for the first time how much he meant to them. He was more than just another teacher... he was an inspiration. Altruistic and appreciative souls in both elementary classes decided to pool their assets and secure a farewell gift for their instructor. They had an elaborate plan mapped out. C. Jules Rose, Dr. Brewer's student assistant, was to detain his boss so the drive captains could solicit nickels and dimes from their classmates. To guard against being caught off guard, wardens were posted outside the door to give the high sign when Dr. Brewer was nearing his destination.

The following day, the plan was for a visitor from Detroit to call up on the pretense of getting information for a local paper to keep Dr. Brewer engaged for fifteen or twenty minutes. The conversation went this way:

"You are from the 'Post-Herald'?"
"I'm not bound for Dakar."
"No! Not the Marines!"
"Absolutely not! I'm not a gunner's mate!"
"I'm in the artillery."
"I did not say cavalry!"
"What?"
"I'm a major-general!"
"I told you before my name does not begin with P."
"Will you please attempt to concentrate..."
"I'm not in the Air Corps."
"Hold the phone away from your mouth."
"Listen for the last time, I'm not connected with the General Staff."
"My name isn't Pewter."
"It's Brewer."
"I mean Brewer."
"I'm not being retired, I'm just going into the service."
"He hung up!"
"What a strange reporter."
"Must be an amateur."
Bear Gifts

Wednesday afternoon a representative group of students from both classes marched into Dr. Brewer's office bearing three packages. He was amazed! For, supposedly, he had reserved fifteen minutes at this time to hear a fictitious dissatisfied student complain about his exam grade! When it was explained what the purpose of the gathering was, he grinned from ear to ear and in the most unconvincing manner imaginable said: "You know I thought something was up all the time."

The first offering was a small one. When he opened it and saw a package of Dentone he blushed with shame! His vice had become public property.

Next was a leather briefcase which the good doctor promised to carry to Philadelphia using it first for the paper on which the first draft of the classes' final exam would be written.

Has Its Rewards
Last was a copy of Max Lerner's prophetic book, "Ideas for the Ice Age." On the fly leaf was inscribed: "If every class in America could learn of Democracy from one as inspiring as you, there would be no Ice Age."

The students left. The gifts were put away. Nothing was said until suddenly twenty minutes later in the daily 2 o'clock hush that descends over the campus, Dr. Brewer paused from his work a moment and said to himself, yet audibly, "You know, Chips was right. Teaching does have its rewards."

A glance in the direction of the figure behind the desk revealed a man with moist eyes.

Jr. Pan Hellenic Holds Valentine Prom February 12

FEBRUARY 12 has been announced as the date for this year's annual Junior Pan Hellenic prom, Hotel Washington as the place.

Dancing will be from 10 'til 1, to Joe Baldwin's music in the Hall of Nations at the hotel. During the evening there will be a Grand March led by officers and delegates of "Baby" Pan Heli.

Tickets are $1.50 per couple and every pledge is responsible for one. Besides her own ticket, every pledge receives one stag ticket.

AKP's Initiate Six New Members

SIX NEW MEMBERS were initiated into the local chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi, Professional Commerce Fraternity, last week.

The new members are Dayton M. Peterson, John A. Nuhn, Milford H. Clark, S. Reid Moore, Jr., Edward V. Kiley and Charles M. Hanley. These men were selected according to President Charles Houlahan because they showed unusual qualities of leadership in the fields of commerce, accounts and finance.

The initiation was held at the Kennedy Warren, after which a banquet honoring the new members was held in the Blue Room of the hotel.

Bush Plays Hatchet Writer For Article on Art Exhibit

LAST WEEK, the Hatchet presented a review of the Art Display in the Student Club, written by MacGregor Martin. The article caused much comment throughout the school, both favorable and otherwise. This letter from Ed Bush, publicity director of Esser Art Club, is representative.

To the Editors:

When 'Mac' Martin Placed Art Under Fire in the January 13th issue of The Hatchet it seems he set the whole Art School ablaze.

We art students are constantly concerned with subjective expression and we recognize 'Mac' as an excellent craftsman in the creative art of journalism. We feel that if he had extended us similar recognition for our efforts to create, all would be as cool as cucumbers.

It is obvious that 'Mac' was so concerned with trying to pedal some humor that his feature was no more than a column of shallow, glib blarney, and how many people fall for blarney!

If one attempts to criticize, he should at least observe that which he chooses to criticize. There were no pencil sketches and the spelling of the two mentioned paintings were misspelled. It is a shame that a journalist commit such an error when the facts are clearly before him.

If 'Mac' is so proud of his background of Esquire and the Melton

Gallery, why doesn't he write under his own name? Is he ashamed of that which he writes? Or is he trying to be funny again?

If The Hatchet staff really wants an art critic, we recommend Professor Crandall's course in Art Criticism or Survey of Modern Art. He would then be ashamed to claim that he adores pretty photographic realism commonly found on postcards and calendars.

To be progressive, one must build up and not break down. When the Helicon was defending itself, The Hatchet gave it very firm backing. Why is it that when the Art School, which is one of the few other creative activities left on the campus, does not deserve firm backing, too. Did anybody make fun of the Helicon? No.

Despite the heat, we artists are confident that the exhibit in the Student Club is expressive of our individual convictions and that we shall continue to speak in the complex language of art.

Campus Caravan

By ANNE CATHERINE EMMERT

ALL IS anything but quiet on the collegiate front, as the dark clouds of war hover over America. In order to get an idea of what your fellow-sufferers are doing in the present crisis, perhaps you would like to accompany your wandering reporter, as the Campus Caravan shoves off to parts unknown.

The economic situation really struck home for the first time to Leigh men, when they were suddenly rationed to 75 per cent of their December coke supply, due to the government's program of rationing sugar. Leigh faculty opened wide the academic throttle in its monthly meeting last week, and came out with a greatly accelerated educational program to meet the requirements of war-time emergency. Students may cover the regular four-year university course in two and two-thirds years by studying in the summer. The annual Spring House Party, Spring Vacation and the second exam period will be eliminated. This accelerated program is purely optional.

A bit outside the war situation, but it probably caused war on the Leigh campus... two freshmen recently decided to make their own fireworks with charcoal, sulphur and potassium nitrate accumulated from here and there. The result was that the mixture tore the side of one of the boy's coats to shreds and ruined his pants. The boy also succeeded in completely demolishing one of the beautiful, new, shiny toilet bowls in the frat house.

A $25 defense bond prize is being offered in a Defense Bond Poster Contest sponsored by the Art Division at Cooper Union. This will afford art students an opportunity to participate in the defense effort.

The Senior Class of Stevens Institute of Technology has adopted a speed-up schedule, which will advance graduation five weeks. The second term will begin immediately after exams. Each subject will receive an extra hour a week, making five extra hours in all. There will be no Spring Vacation. Those seniors who are unable to carry the extra load may drop. Electrical Engineering, take it during Summer School, and graduate on the former graduation day, June 6. The main body of the class will graduate on May 2.

Gettysburg College is also planning to initiate a three-year course leading to the BA degree parallel to the regular four-year course, which will be continued. The administration will provide training for student telegraphers, and organize blood donors for the armed forces.

Western Reserve University is adding three new courses to the curriculum, "Machine Shop Training," "Civil Pilot Training," and "Administration and Interpretation of Psychological Tests." These courses will be open for both boys and girls.

First effects of the war were felt on the campus of the University of Kentucky, as two sororities announced that they will have no Spring formal; reserve funds will be invested in defense bonds. No fraternities have decided to close their houses as advocated by the Dean recently, but all are at work on methods of reducing expenditures and building up reserve.

The Red Cross has come to Mitten Hall, Temple University's new ten recreational center. The East Acolove, monopolized till now by dancing, singing about the fire, etc., has now become the department of sewing. Sewing machines have been set up, and ironing boards and sewing tables now take the place of checkers tables. Here students will sit knitting or learning how to knit, and across the hall in the former lounge, boys and girls in white costumes will make Army dressings, pack them and ship them to general headquarters. Mitten Hall has undergone a metamorphosis.

'Twas the night before Christmas holidays, and all through the Clemson Campus was a spirit of good cheer. So a group of cadets decided to cheer up the lonely group of Army boys guarding a trestle near the college. With this worthy purpose in mind they fixed up several nice baskets and proceeded to the point of interest. Instead of "Merry Christmas," they were greeted with "Halt!" But they were full of Christmas spirit, so they didn't halt. Results were immediate and loud, and several amateur Santa Clauses suddenly ducked to avoid the whizzing bullets. But regardless of shot and shell, the Christmas special delivery boys got the goods through, to the high delight of the Army boys. And as they say, "All's well that ends well!"

And now to lighter things... a new fluorescent lighting system was installed in the library of Texas Christian University during the Christmas holidays. How lovely for approaching exams!

A little mouse in the girls' dormitory at the University of South Carolina delved into a cherished collection of college newspapers one fine day, and recognizing them as the epitome of excellence, carefully digested the news, "til there was nothing but shreds. Morale: (says the Editor) Even the rats like the "Gamecock."

This ought to help when the English exams come around: "Lay and lie off slips to the pens that have bothered most excellent men; You may say that you lay in bed yesterday— If you do it today, you're a hen!"

New and novel twists of student life, as seen through the eyes of the collegiate press.

By RANDALL and HOLCOMB

WE HAVE a new feature here at the University, or we will have in about two weeks. The Engineers will be wearing new blue sweaters with an emblem representing the Engineering School. There has been some talk about them and every one seemed very interested until the time came to put up the money and get them, but finally we have gotten them. All those that have ordered them should try to get in touch with Fred Holcomb (EM. 6737) before Saturday, January 24, to check the sizes, and, by the way, the price has gone down to $4.85 complete, including a box. The sweaters will be ready for delivery on or before January 31.

To those that missed out this time we can only say that if you want them badly enough we may be able to get up another order, but we won't guarantee anything. As you already know, the tickets for the Eleventh Engineers' Ball are on sale for $2.20 per couple. They can be obtained from any member of the Engineers' Council, from many other Engineers or from the Student Club.

We of the Council feel that we do not have to sell the Ball to you or anyone else, it is merely our aim to see that everyone in the University know that there is going to be a dance on Friday, February 20, at the New Shoreham Ball Room, with Phil Lampkins' Music, given by the Engineers for everyone in the University. So let's see everyone of us spread the news around, and remember "Ten times a success, the eleventh will be best."

There is going to be an event in the near future that you all want to jot down in your little red books as a time to be remembered. The date: February 11, 1942. The event: The Engineers' Mixer. This is the second and last mixer this year and this time it is to be sponsored by the joint efforts of the A. S. C. E. A. S. M. E. and the A. I. E. E. This is the time that you all greet the new members of the school. And in all probability you will meet some old members that you haven't known before, and besides it doesn't cost you a red cent.

We are looking for shots of the school in action. Pictures of the laboratory classes, of the drafting rooms when the men are working hard, eating lunch or anything else that goes on up there. But they must be unposed, or at least look that way. If you have any such pictures, or can get them, send them to this column in care of Dean Felker's office in Corcoran Hall. What we want are pictures for the Cherry Tree.

Med and Pre-Med Meditations

By DAVID LYONS

THE NEXT meeting of Pre-Medica has been tentatively set for February 13, with Dr. Joseph H. Roe, professor of Biochemistry at the Medical School, as the guest speaker. Dr. Roe will talk on "A Historical Survey of the Vitamins" and will illustrate his talk with slides.

There will be an important meeting of the Deans of all the medical schools in the country in Chicago on February 14. This will be the second time that they have convened within recent months and it is expected that they will discuss questions pertinent to the acceleration of medical schools.

Fresh Class in June
Students in the undergraduate school who have been accepted to the medical school for the coming session will be interested to learn that the tentative date set for their entrance is June 8, 1942. In order for the medical school to have a full 16-week semester with a week of exams before June 8, the Easter recess will probably be eliminated.

The Post-Graduate Course in Aviation, Ophthalmology and Aviation Medicine has been canceled by the University Medical School because of the uncertainty of obtaining the Army and Navy Officers who were to be the guest lecturers. However, a condensed practical course in Ocular Surgery, Pathology and Orthopedics will be given from January 26 to the end of the month.

Colonel to Address Faculty
At the next meeting of the medical school faculty and seminar luncheon on January 28, Col. Philip C. Huntington, Professor of Military Science and Tactics at the Medical School, will deliver the address. Colonel Huntington will speak on "Military Operations in the Philippine Islands."

The Junior Class of the medical school will tender the seniors an informal dance at Arlington Village on January 31. This annual affair is being held much earlier this year because one-third of the present senior class is graduating in February.

Corpus Delicti

Law School Notes

Among the writings of the recent past of particular interest to the student of law is "Clarence Darrow for the Defense," a brilliant and well-documented story of one of America's foremost criminal lawyers. Described by some as an experience in the social crisis of the past generation, the book does touch the often-despised phase of the law with sweeping scope. Sparing neither Darrow nor the contemporary public it contains much of the drama of the human side of the law.

But of all the works of the last decade or so, Beveridge's "The Life of John Marshall" still has more of the greatness of American jurisprudence, more of the character of the nation's vitality, spirit, fearlessness and justice than any other. It has often been said of Marshall that the brilliance of his own justice and his natural fluency served to make law where there was none, and remake law which was archaic with a conviction which made his word among the greatest of authority. But each lawyer has a different and perhaps equally great estimate of Marshall.

Splinters from the gavel of the law school... this is the milk of the cocoon... why heat the devil around a stump... (how many of these can you identify?)... now when I studied under Dean Pound...

nibble by the wayside... the bell hasn't rung yet... beating a dead horse... that is a brilliant explanation of the case with the exception of one point—the point of law... in the days when lawyers were as crooked as blacksnake whips... (with regard to a decision of the F. C. C.): dead fish in the moonlight—it glitters but it stinks... next case, please, young man... Daugherty's story about the young lawyer who had but two books, equity and bills and notes.

Pan-Politikon Discusses Stage

NEW OPPORTUNITIES will arise in the theater as a result of the present war University students predicted during a Pan Politikon round-table broadcast last week on "The Theater in War-time."

Elsie Berry, Lowell Westervelt, Keith Adamson and Ward McCabe, moderator, found that larger audiences seeking amusement will attract many new actors, while the draft will create a scarcity of players and playwrights.

Pointing out how the first World War still affects the plays now being produced, Lowell Westervelt predicted the present war would do likewise in the near future, but that at present the plays would be light comedy to relieve war-time tension.

Revised Final Examination Schedule

January 23-January 31, 1942

The class schedule is suspended during the examination period. Examinations will be two hours in length. Books and scratch paper may not be taken into the examination room unless authorized by the instructor in charge. Third-group courses are not included. Courses in Law and Medicine will be arranged by each school involved. Conflicts which cannot be adjusted with the instructor, and errors should be reported to the Registrar.

Buff Smothers Hoyas, Face Army Tomorrow

Before I Forget

By Charles Daugherty

● PERSISTENT rumors that Alphonse "Tuffy" Leemans was coming here to coach football, rumors which finally culminated in an outright statement by Shirley Povich, Washington Post columnist that all that stood in the way of acceptance was salary, were permanently scotched last week by President Marvin. Dr. Marvin flatly declared that there would be no change made in the coaching situation next year; that the University had contracts with the present staff which wouldn't be touched; and that nobody with any authority had even so much as contacted Leemans. So that's that.

Leemans admits only that he has been approached by several interested and prominent alumni, and asked whether or not he would accept an offer if it were made. His reply was that he would, provided that a change had actually been decided upon. If the salary was right, he would not, however, seek the job now held by his good friend, Bill Reinhart.

The unofficial campaign to get the University's most famous son to return here as a coach, will be abandoned, at least for the present, in view of the no-change declaration by President Marvin. Since the declaration of war the campaign has had two strikes on it, anyway, because even if the college football season for 1942 is not cancelled, the indications are that intramural sports, sports that encourage participation, will get the green light.

President Roosevelt has asked that baseball be continued, and night games be increased from 7 to 14 in the major leagues, but he also declared unmistakably that players, regardless of calibre, must go when called and no questions asked or requests for deferment made.

If baseball has a tough row to hoe, how much more difficult a time will intercollegiate football have. Particularly vulnerable is George Washington, with no R. C. T. C. unit. Taking all these things into consideration, and even granting that the Board of Trustees wants a change, which Dr. Marvin has declared that it doesn't, it seems that the authorities would be extremely unlikely to part with the $7,500 per, which would be about the salary that Mr. Leemans would demand.

According to the varsity basketball manager, General Lear's Yoo-Hoo Battalion would be as safe as a fish in a rainstorm if it should ever march into the vicinity of Clemson and Wake Forest. The dearth of girlpower in Clemson was so pronounced when the basketball team visited there on its Southern jaunt that Aaron Layne swears that there are only six girls in the whole establishment, and four of them married or engaged. Cagers Get Early Dates

Ed Gustafson, who played a key role in the defeat of Georgetown by his inspired play under the basket and off the backboard, was burdened the whole time with a bandage from his waist to his thigh. He was suffering from a pulled muscle in the groin, could pivot only on his left leg, and in spite of this handicap he held highly-touted Bill Bornheimer to a paltry two field goals and seven points.

Coach Reinhart was lavish in his praise of Bobby Gilham for his work against slippery Buddy O'Grady, declaring that "you'll go a long way before you see a better job of guarding than Gilham turned in." As for Matt Zunic, Rome Schwagel, publicity agent for the Hoyas, declared that "he would have to be a miracle man to play any better than he did." The impression is gaining force that there never was a greater player to don the Buff and Blue than Matt, and when you scan a list of the court greats from the University, such a remark is praise indeed.

Class Games Open Coed Cage Season

● AS PROJECTED games with Maryland University, Howard and Goucher colleges loom ahead, coed basketball teams are being whipped into shape for the coming fray. Varsity team members, Helen Marie Byars, guard; Betty Campbell, guard; Dot Travis, sophomore, forward; and Camille Craig senior, guard, but equally at home in forward territory, will be back to play this year.

Class games will precede the intercollegiate competition as freshmen, sophomore and senior teams toss the ball off the Tin Tabernacle's backboards in an effort to cop a championship. There will be no Junior team this year.

Seniors last season easily took the championship with no games lost and look good for the coming year as three Varsity members as well as experienced forward Peggy Kinsman are back. The sophomores have Travis and the frosh as always are an unknown quantity.

Freshman Drop Game To Hoyas

Winning Streak Of Buff Frosh Broken, 57-40

● THE UNIVERSITY Frosh dropped their first game in five tries Thursday night when a small but lightning fast Georgetown Frosh quint downed them 57-40 in a preliminary to the varsity contest. Displaying a brand of ball-handling seldom seen in a Freshman five, the G. U. lads slowly built up a nice lead and coasted in at finish by 17 points.

In spite of defeat, Si Wagman continued his fine performances by dropping in a second half spurge of scoring. At one point Wagman scored 8 points in three minutes' playing time. Ken Rollings and Jack Ryan contributed 7 points each to the G. U. cause.

Big Andy Kostoka, G. U. center, was once again high point man. Kostoka followed up numerous shots from under the hankboard and flipped in several pivot shots for a total of 17 points. Miggs Reilly and Billy Hassett followed close behind with 13 and 11 points respectively.

The Hoyas piled up an early 7-1 lead as the game got under way, but the Colonials overcame this deficit to tie the game at 11 all. However, a barrage of baskets by Hassett, Reilly, and Kostoka smothered two more baskets by Jack Ryan and the Hoyas had a halftime lead of 29-16.

Wagman's hot streak started with the opening of the second half, the Buff pulling within 8 points of the Hilltoppers, but the grey-clad boys soon found themselves again with a 13-point final quarter and won going away.

The game was very rough, as evidenced by the eviction of Hassett, Kostoka, Wagman, and Glenn Sandlund for 4 fouls each. Hassett went out in the third quarter and the others in the fourth.

The Frosh played one other game last week, travelling to Quantico, Va., to play the Quantico Marines. The Buff were victorious in this game by the decisive score of 41-22, as Jack Ryan led his teammates with 14 points.

The next game for the Freshmen will be against Anacostia High. G. U. Frosh

Covering The COLONIALS

By THERON RICE

● LOOKING HERE and there and into the future of the Colonials—Georgetown Sidelines—Nick Latus working himself into his usual cheer leading frenzy for the benefit of Joe Stepanovich on the job snapping them both for The Hatchet.

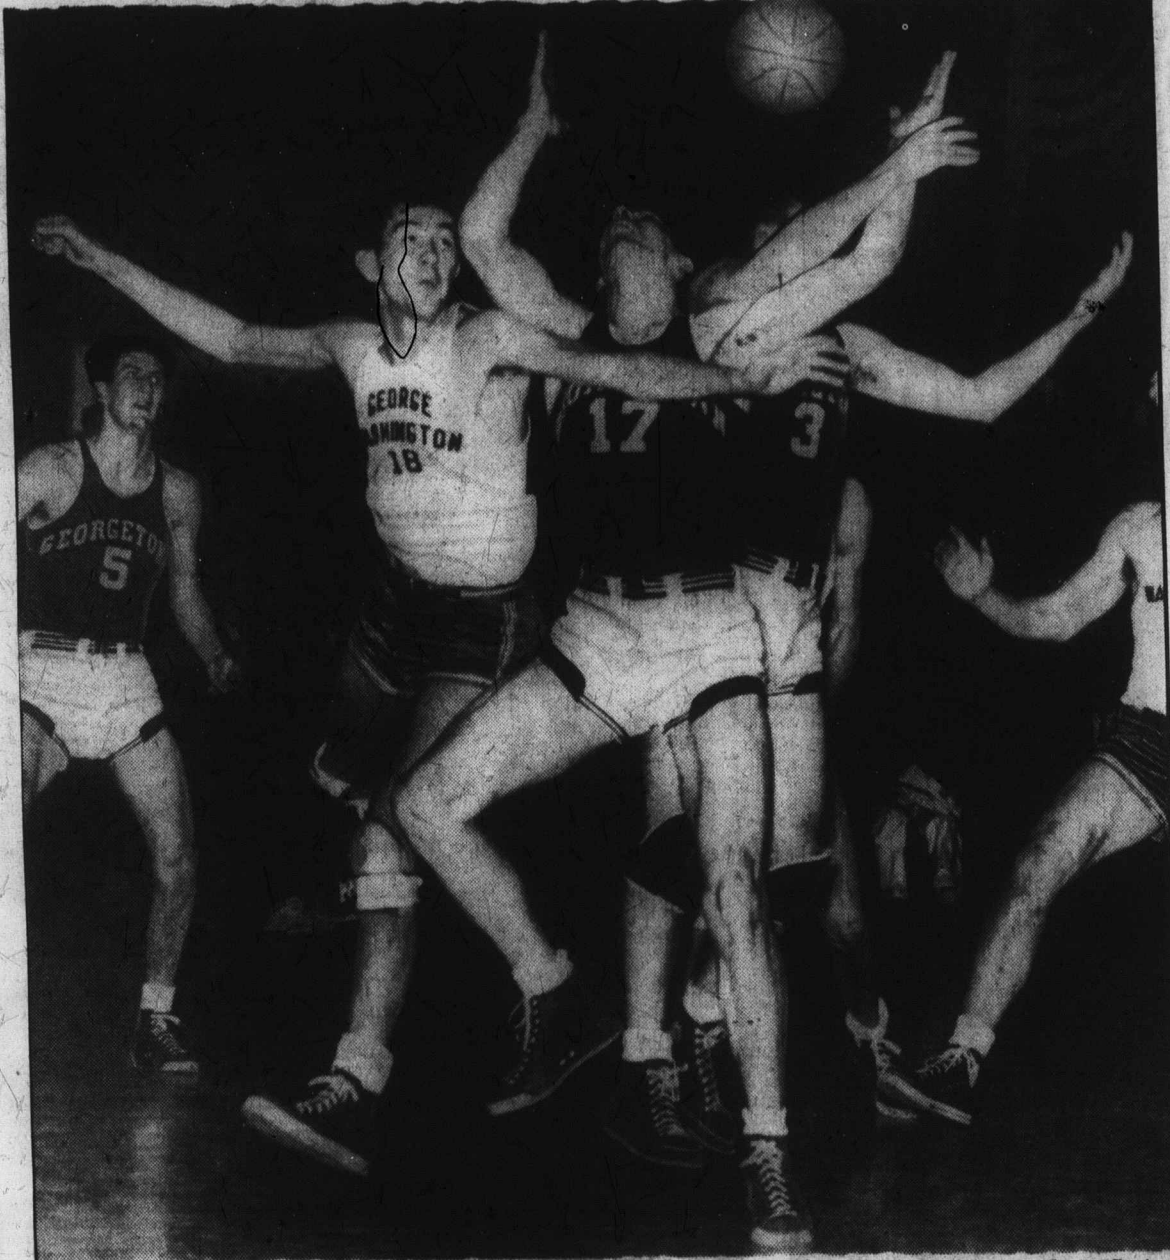

● Sacred Heart's No. 7 in all his glory, sitting on the bench with his coach's arm around him... wild unparalleled joy in the Colonials' dressing room... across the way G. U.—SILENCE

Coach Reinhart's smiles as Bobby Gilham and Roy McNeil came into their own in the second half and began pouring in the points... despair on the face of Bill Bornheimer, Hoya center, who can't seem to hit his stride... (don't suppose Gussie's close guarding could have anything to do with it)... players gleefully munching sandwiches and drinking Grade A in the Tin Tabernacle after a game.

Short Notes — Matt Zunic's 18 points Thursday night boosted his game average to an even 14 points. If kept up, this pace will net Zunic 266 points, 23 more than his record 243 set last year.

The Buff and Blue don't return to Riverside Stadium until February 21 when they will go out to defeat Duke, Southern Conference champions, who recently defeated the Colonials by one point at Durham.

The old jinx that goes with the Hoya-Colonials' modern series popped up its "pretty" head for the fourth straight time Thursday. The favorite in each of the last four games has ended up on the short end of the score.

GOODBYE, GEORGETOWN—An example of the furious action in Thursday night's Colonial-Hoya game, when the Buff and Blue routed Georgetown 45-36. Matt Zunic, No. 18, Colonial ace, is snapped playing his usual slashing brand of ball. He scored 18 points besides playing a great defensive game. Other players are Georgetown's Engles (17), Danny Gabbianelli (3), and Charley Schmidli (5).

Intrafraternity Bowling, Ping Pong to Start

● INTRAMURAL DIRECTOR Al Haringer announced Sunday that the annual Intrafraternity bowling and ping pong tournaments would get underway with the opening of the second semester. Last year Theta Delta Chi, led by Bill Van Meter, won the bowling title, and Kappa Alpha, led by Norman Dancy's brilliant playing, defeated Phi Sigma Kappa for the ping pong title.

Haringer also announced that the Independent Basketball League games were forced to be called off last week because all were scheduled to be played Friday night, the night of the Buff and Blue Room and a closed night for University activities. They will all be rescheduled and played at a later date.

This weeks regularly scheduled games finds the Colonials and the Choppers meeting at 9 tonight and the Phantoms and Engineers at 10. Competition is scheduled to end Feb. 1 and the two top teams will play for the title.

Phi Sigs Take Intramural Honors in Swimming Meet

● PACED BY DON Kayhoe who scored 15 points, the Phi Sigma Kappa swimming team won the Intramural Swimming Meet held last Saturday in the YMCA pool with a total of 22 markers. Sigma Chi, with 16 points, finished second, with the Choppers with 10 points and Kappa Alpha with five following in that order.

Kayhoe won all three events in which he was entered—the 50 yard freestyle, 100 yard freestyle, and 50 yard backstroke. Second in the face for individual honors was Jim Burch of Sigma Chi, whose 10 points were the result of his finishing first in the 220 yard freestyle, second in the 50 yard freestyle, and fourth in the 50 yard backstroke. Szadokowski, swimming unattached, earned six points with a second and two fourths, and Turpin of the Choppers garnered seven points with two seconds and a third.

Winner of the 50 yard breaststroke was Zip Zimmerman of Sigma Chi, with Ted Westfall of Phi Sigma Kappa finishing second. Bud Newell jumped away with the diving feature, and Turpin, Murdaugh Madden of the Phi Sigs, and Zimmerman followed.

Complete results and the times of the winners follow:
50 yd. freestyle: First, Kayhoe (PSK); second, Burch (SX); third, Turpin (Choppers); fourth, Szadokowski (unattached). Time 27.4 seconds.
100 yd. freestyle: First, Kayhoe (PSK); second, Szadokowski (unattached). Time 1:04.9 seconds.
220 yd. freestyle: First, Burch (SX); second, Kayhoe (PSK); third, Madden (PSK); fourth, Zimmerman (SX). Time 3:57.3 seconds.
50 yd. backstroke: First, Kayhoe (PSK); second, Turpin (Choppers); third, Szadokowski (unattached); fourth, Burch (SX). Time 35.8 seconds.
50 yd. breaststroke: First, Zimmerman (SX); second, Westfall (PSK). Time 42.8 seconds.
Diving: First, Newell (KA); second, Turpin (Choppers); third, Madden (PSK); fourth, Zimmerman (SX).

Lilies Set Pace in Flower League Cage Competition

Goldenrods Gain Hold on Runner-Up Spot; Creme Paces Leaders Twice

● FLOWER LEAGUE competition was highlighted last week by victories by the Lilies over the Night Blooming Cereus and the Eight O'Clocks. These two wins coupled with the Goldenrods defeat of the Century Plants gave the Lilies undisputed possession of first place, with the Goldenrods but a half game behind.

The Eight O'Clocks dropped a close game to the Lilies on Monday night (Jan. 12) by the score of 23-24. Little Tony Creme and Walter Vleck led the winners with 7 points each, but the high point man for the night was Hank Agusiewicz with 10.

Following the Eight O'Clocks' game, the Goldenrods won their second game, smothering the Century Plants 51-25. The big man in the Goldenrods' attack was Eddie Czekaj, who rang up 17 points to be his team's high point man for the second time. Don Seibert and Kronis were also very instrumental in the victory, scoring 14 and 12 points respectively.

The Lilies' third victory was a close 32-27 victory over the Night Blooming Cereus Sunday morning. Tony Creme once again led the Lilies with 10 points, but Johnny Pollack of the losers was high scorer with 11.

The final game played was a nip and tuck battle between the Eight O'Clocks and the Bleeding Hearts that was decided in favor of the Eight O'Clocks on a last minute basket by Enrico Seeno. The score was 24-22.

The Lilies and the Goldenrods, and the Century Plants and Eight O'Clocks were scheduled to play last night.

Colonials Meet Terps Saturday

Zunic, Gilham Star As Ancient Rivals Are Upset, 45-36

● RETURNING to major inter-sectional competition, the Colonials will engage the Army tomorrow evening on the West Point court, after trouncing Georgetown 45-36 last Thursday at Riverside. The revitalized Colonials are favored to win a closely contested match.

Victors last year by a 31-27 score over the Cadets, the basketball team fought an uphill battle that saw them behind at the half. A late surge by "Mad" Matt Zunic and Bobby Gilham helped push the team ahead just before the last whistle blew. That left the series at two victories each, but the advantage of playing on its home floor will be a decided break for the service team tomorrow night.

Coach Bill Reinhart is awaiting the game with trepidation, knowing that any game the Colonials play against the Army is always a hard fought, bitter battle, no matter how good or poor the season may be for either team.

Meet Terps Saturday Night

Returning to closer stamping grounds, the Reinhartmen will invade Ritchie Coliseum at College Park Saturday to face another Southern Conference opponent, Maryland University. The battle will be for more honors than just a victory, for to the winner will go another leg on title claims for the championship of the District. While the Buff are battling Army, the Terps will be meeting the Georgetown Hoyas at Riverside Stadium, and an indication of how much opposition the Colonials will encounter Saturday night may be gleaned from the Hoya-Terp score after that fray is over.

Buff Conquers Hoyas, 45-36

By virtue of last season's record, the Colonials have been highly touted as one of the best teams in the nation. But the reserve strength proved to be too inexperienced, and the regulars incapable of winning over such powerful teams as Duke, Indiana, Oklahoma Aggies, or Oklahoma. But the experience gained from those losses has proved of immense value, as shown by the improved play that marked the inspired victory over Georgetown University last Thursday night. The Colonials conquered by a score of 45-36, and that was no indication of how superior the team really was.

At long last, Bobby Gilham and Roy McNeil played the brilliant ball expected of them all season, topped only by the All-American play of Mad Matt Zunic. This inspired trio was all over the floor, dominating the play at every turn, offensively as well as defensively. Inspired too, was the support of Joe Gallagher, Jim Myers, and Ed Gustafson.

The Buff and Blue finally lived up to expectations, and prospects for a good season are still bright though slightly clouded. Victories over the Southern Conference rivals will more than compensate for any non-conference losses sustained.
